

Mobile Licenses

When checking an ID, you may be presented a mobile license on a phone rather than a physical license. However, use of a mobile ID depends on the policy of the issuing state and the acceptance policy of the verifying location.

Mobile ID is a digital twin to the physical document, not a full replacement - best practice is to carry the physical card as a backup. Businesses are not obligated to accept a mobile license as ID, but they can choose to do so.

Does your state issue a mobile driver's license?
